

A QUARTER MORE.

Frozen Herring Price Again Advanced This Morning.

The price of frozen herring took another advance this morning, sch. Maxine Elliott, the only vessel at this port with a cargo, opened Saturday at $3.25 per hundred weight and this forenoon this figure was advanced to $3.50.

Buying Herring.

Sch. W. H. Moody of this port, Capt. Welsh, which has been at Eastport, Me., the past week buying a cargo of frozen herring, has completed her loading. The price paid for large herring was 25 cents per hundred. The schooner will sail for home as soon as the weather becomes favorable.

Herring Notes

Sch. Landseer, Capt. Doe, of Bucksport, arrived at this port this morning from Placentia Bay, N. F., with 250 barrels of frozen herring. The schooner left Burin February 20, and the captain reports a hard rough passage home with heavy northwesterly winds. He came to the southward of Sable Island and saw no ice.
Sch. W. H. Moody, Capt. Martin Welch, of this port, arrived this morning from Eastport, Maine, with 100,000 pounds of frozen herring. The fish are of good size and fine color. The craft was gone only two weeks. She will probably open her cargo here. This is the first cargo received at this port from that place for some time.

The refrigerator at Rockport shipped 600 barrels of frozen herring to Boston yesterday.

Severe Cold Kills Many Fish.

It is reported that during the last cold snap 100 square miles of ice had collected in Vineyard Sound, and the shores all along the coast are strewn with thousands of fish that have been frozen to death or killed by the extremely low temperature of the water. Fishermen predict that these waters will be depleted of tautog, perch and other small food fish. Anchor frost has formed on the bottom of nearly all the bays, covering them with a glare of ice from one to three inches thick. Ground fish cannot live in waters where it is found.

Making Quick Trips.

Sch. Olga, Capt. Horace Wildes, arrived here yesterday afternoon with 55,000 lbs. fresh fish. The Olga left here only last Thursday so has made a quick trip. Capt. Wildes is hustling, having made three good trips in three weeks.

Good Stock.

Sch. Fanny Belle Atwood, Capt. Henry Atwood, stocked $1700 on her recent haddocking trip.
